FROM THE EDITOR

I want to welcome the class of 2010 by quoting one of my favorite poets, George Santayana, “We must welcome the future, remembering that soon it will be the past; and we must respect the past, remembering that it was once all that was humanly possible.” As you make the University of the District of Columbia your second home, you are not only starting a new chapter of today, but also one that is leading you to the future. You are the future of your new home as the university accepts you with a unique history that you will only opt to be proud of and respect. And you have been just given the opportunity to leave a trace of your own by excelling in your academics and utilizing all the resources available to you.

Throughout this special edition of Trilogy, your monthly newspaper, you will find important information that will help you easily maneuver in and out of the university’s departments; just turn to page 3 for a map of the campus. A great deal of effort has been made to equip you with upcoming events that you will be invited to participate (List of the major events are on page 4).

As you turn to page 2, messages from the President of the University of the District of Columbia, Dr. William Pollard, and Vice President for Student Affairs Dr. Clennie Solomon await you. You also have a welcome message from the presidents of the Undergraduate and Graduate Student Government Associations, William Kellibrew IV and Shuntrice Holloman, respectively. Also Selvon M. Waldron, the Student Representative to the Board of Trustees forwards his prospective on your arrival here at the University.

I am sure you will reach your goals beyond the realm of your imaginations as UDC is the right place to start that journey. You have a potential to achieve greatness and thus you have arrived at the right destination to be trained to grasp your dream. You have all the encouragements you will need to finish your degree programs, become a leader, and be another success story of the university.

Saying all this, I just have one question for you. Are you up for the challenge? Welcome to the home of the blazing Firebirds! Send your concerns, opinions, and questions to the Trilogy Editors and they will be addressed accordingly in our ‘Letters to the Editor’ section of the upcoming issues.

Memar Ayalew
Interim Editor-in-Chief
Memar.ayalew@udc.edu

The University of the District of Columbia awarded 576 associate, baccalaureates, masters, Jurist Doctorate, and honorary degrees at its 29th Commencement held at the Verizon Center on May 13, 2006. Among the guests were Linda Cropp, Chair of the District Council; Kathy Patterson (D-Ward 3), Chair of the Committee on Education, Libraries, and Recreation; Marion Barry (D-Ward 8); UDC Board of Trustees members, and members of the class of 1956. In a welcome address, James Dyke, Chairperson of the Board of Trustees, emphasized the achievements of the University, including the Middle States reaccreditation and the accreditation of the Education, Nursing, and Computer programs.

See GRADUATION, page 3

The Twenty-Ninth Commencement, Verizon Center 2006

GETTING PERSONAL WITH THE QUEEN

BY CHERAE DAVID

Carissa Bernard-Miss University of the District of Columbia

Carissa Bernard is the reigning queen of the University of the District of Columbia. She has proven that success is the righteous heir of hard work, commitment, and self-respect. She has already shown that destiny is only a path chosen to reach life’s ultimate goal. She is an alumna of the University, having received her degree in Business Management in May, 2006 and is currently pursuing a degree in Accounting.

This charismatic, young lady originated from the Twin Republic Island of Trinidad and Tobago. Carissa excelled in academics and participated in extracurricular activities that included athletics, modeling, and her strongest passion, dancing. She credits her success to her mother who is her role model. She has attended the Cipriani Labour College in Tobago, where she earned a certificate in Human Resource Management.

Coming to the United States to further her tertiary education was one of her childhood dreams. She has overcome many obstacles, with the past four years being the most challenging; yet she has risen above all odds. During her stay at the University, she served as the President of the Caribbean Students Association, a member of the Undergraduate Student Government Association, a member of the Women’s Soccer club, a teachers’ assistant in the Science and Engineering Departments, and a student ambassador.

In addition, Carissa is an intern in the President’s Office and a student ambassador at Reagan National Airport.

When interviewed by a student reporter she expressed the following views in reference to the University, “The University has come a long way from where it was before. It has transformed a lot. Every school has its ups and downs, but despite everything I am proud to be attending UDC.” Carissa opens her doors to the day-to-day challenges of her life with an open mind and her beautiful smile.
Message from the President of the University

Dear New Student:

Welcome to the University of the District of Columbia, a rich heritage that dates back to 1851 when one of its predecessor schools was founded. Since its humble beginnings, the university has graduated numerous alums that have excelled in several careers and professional endeavors. I encourage you to strive to be the best in your chosen field of study and join the ranks of our distinguished graduates. This learning environment is a microcosm of our larger society. Accordingly, while matriculating at this venerable institution of higher learning, you will encounter a number of challenges. It is important for you to know that our University has a team of dedicated faculty, students, and staff who are eager to assist you in overcoming these challenges and insure your success.

As your new experience at UDC begins, make sure to set your goals high, work hard to reach them and dedicate yourself to stay the course and complete your educational objectives. Again, welcome to the University and best wishes for a wonderful learning experience.

Sincerely,

Clemmie Solomon, Ph.D.
Vice President for Student Affairs

Message from the Vice President for Student Affairs

The University of the District of Columbia has been a part of the educational fabric of Washington for many years. Its vigor continues to depend on a vibrant interaction between past and present, customs and change, the experienced opinions and the modern ideas: innovations of the present.

Extracurricular activities are endless at the university; there are over sixty active clubs, organizations, and honor societies in which you could participate. The inevitability of change and renewal that we cherish here at “Our Glorious UDC!” must take its course and replenish membership in these organizations. Leadership possibilities abound; become the voice of your class by participating in the Student Government Association’s activities as a Senator or class representative.

Finally, I encourage you to take advantage of your greatest opportunity at the University of the District of Columbia – the academic wealth of this institution. Your decision to attend this university will allow you to reap the benefits for the rest of your life. Remain focused and you will not be disappointed.

‘Education is our passport to the future, for tomorrow belongs to the people who prepare for it today.’

Welcome, and may your year be memorable and prosperous.

Sincerely,

Selvon M. Waldron
The Student Representative to the Board of Trustees
University of the District of Columbia
He said the mission of UDC is to provide a qual- ity education at an affordable price to the resi- dents of the District of Columbia and the “community can be proud of the University.” He stressed the importance of UDC lies in its three-part mission of teaching, research, and pub- lic service. Dyke expressed his gratitude to President William Pollard and his wife, Merri- ette, faculty, administration, staff, and students. He challenged the University not to digress from its charted course and appealed to the graduates not to for- get their alma mater. He said, “As you graduate today, as alumni, you must support UDC because your sup- port ensures sustained excellence. Everything you do with excellence increases the value of your degrees.”

Linda Cropp reminded the audience of the ma- jor role UDC plays in providing higher educa- tion to residents of the District of Columbia by providing a comprehensive course of studies that helps its graduates to become productive citizens. Cropp said: “Those who have preceded you in that cap and gown have done well. No mat- ter how difficult the situation is, always remem- ber the brightest, the shiniest diamond is only a lump of coal that has done well under pressure.”

She challenged the graduates to be role models in whatever capacities they find themselves and to help others reach their educational goals. “No matter who we are or think we are, we now have the responsi- bility to pull someone along with us,” said Cropp. Attorney, Willie E. Gary and painter Sam Gil- liam received honorary doctorate degrees in recognition of their services to society. Gary, who Forbes Magazine described as one of the nation’s top fifty trial attorneys, has “Gil- iant Killer” as his nickname because of the tenacity he displays in multimillion dollars lawsuits against corporations that many considered untouchable.

He also challenged the students to “dream big dreams…keep God in your plans. If you do that, the road will always rise to meet you, and the rain will fall softly on your fields.” Gillsiam added, “Do it if they tell you, ‘you can’t.’”

But the keynote speaker for the University’s 29th Commencement was Anthony Lewis, Presi- dent of Verizon. The theme of Lewis’ address was the salience of communication in the 21st century.

Lewis compared the role communication is play- ing in the 21st century to its role in the agricul- tural and industrial revolutions of the 18th and 19th centuries. He called Michael Powell, former chair of the National Communications Commission (FCC), a seer for predicting that “the communication rev- olution will change the way we communicate, which in turn will change the way we interact.”

He divided his speech into three topics: celebra- tion, contemplation, and initiation. Then he meticu- lously broke each topic down with allusions and examples to inspire and motivate the graduates. Lewis first asked the graduates and the audience to celebrate the rich legacy of UDC because an in- stitution that has stood the test of time since 1851 has been built to last. Lewis stated, “Celebrate the sheer tenacity and courage of the great teachers and faculty who have made UDC a valuable place of learning. Celebrate that you are connected to something bigger than yourselves. Celebrate that you are entering the world with a gift of education that no one can take from you. Be ready to cele- brate your values and express your point of view.”

He mentioned that one great individual is hap- py to celebrate his values and unafraid to ex- press his point of view, Senator Barack Obama (D-IL). Obama’s success story is the American dream. He counseled the graduates to aspire to use their gifts so others might copy their examples.

Lewis said that the graduates should always aim to great heights and must never settle for “good” because good is an enemy of “great.” He insist- ed, “You are about to start something great, not good. Don’t wait. Test your courage; be ready to take advantage of the opportunities around you.”

Lewis celebrated the genius of Nelson Mandela in politics, Maya Angelou in poetry, Michael Jordan in basketball, Tiger Woods in golf, Venus and Ser- ena Williams in tennis—all icons who rose above the lure to become millionaires in their callings. He encouraged the graduates to put their degrees to good use by working diligently so one day, they too, would have their efforts paying off for them.

Dr. Pollard, in his fourth year as president of UDC, reminded the graduates that when he came on board and introduced the concept, “A New Day, A New Opportunity” for UDC, the con- cept meant an opportunity for students to take ad- vantage of chances, especially second chances. Dr. Pollard told the graduates to take advantage of the chances Do it if they tell you, ‘you can’t.’”

“...the class of 36, plan to come back…”

“I’ll credit the professors with my academic expe- rience. The professors are multi-layered and brought to the course a wide range of experience. The diffi- culty though was in working full time and going to school part time,” said Alice Sobsey who received a Masters in English Composition and Rhetoric. Harold Wymblys, who received a Masters in Coun- seling Psychology, shared his experience, “It was a good experience. I had good, caring, dedi- cated staff. I earned my undergraduate degree from a different university, but I found that UDC has a much better graduate program in my field.”

Sandra Felder, who earned a bachelors degree in Mass Media, said, “I’ve seen UDC grow; I’ve seen the growth of professors over the years. This Univer- sity has helped me mature as a student and as a pro- fessional woman. It has fueled my drive and ambition toward earning a Masters degree. UDC has helped turn me into a more motivated, independent person. It has also encouraged me to strive for higher goals.”

Moussa Seck, who earned a Masters in Busi- ness Administration, added, “It was a great op- portunity to return to UDC for my Masters. I ap- preciate the help from my professors. If I had to do it all again, I wouldn’t go anywhere else.”

Nadja Thompson and Yaisha Lawrence, who received Masters degrees in Public Ad- ministration, expressed similar sentiments. Leola Dublin, Senior Class President, said that each graduate represents a successful story. According to her, success requires strength, courage, and a sense of community. Education is an essential element of suc- cess. It is the most powerful weapon one can wield to climb the ladder of upward mobility in society. Dr. E. Gail Holness, Director of Community Outreach and Involvement, set the Commencement ceremony in motion with a powerful invocation and Rev. Anthony Motley ended it with an equally inspiring benediction.

---

CAMPUS NEWS

GRADUATION ...

ARE YOU LOST?

---

SCHOOL AND DEPARTMENTS

College of Arts & Sciences
- Dept. of Education
- Dept. of English
- Dept. of Language & Communication Disorders
- Dept. of Mass Media, Visual & Performing Arts
- Department of Biological & Environmental Sciences
- Department of Chemistry & Physics
- Dept. of Mathematics
- Dept. of Psychology & Counseling
- Dept. of Social Affairs, Social Sciences & Social Work
- Department of Nursing & Allied Health

School of Business and Public Administration
- Department of Accounting, Finance and Economics
- Department of Management, Marketing & Informa- tion Systems

School of Engineering
- Applied Sciences
  - Department of Electrical Engineering & Com- puter Science
  - Department of Engineering, Architecture Aero- space Technology

---

ARE YOU LOST?

---

VAN NESS CAMPUS

Building 30- Hanger No. 10
Building 32- Mathematics
Building 38- Student Services
Building 39- Administration and Financial Aid
Building 41- Arts and Sciences/ Library
Building 42- Engineering
Building 44- Life Sciences
Building 46 East- Auditorium
Building 46 West- Music, Dance and Theater
Building 47- Athletic Center (Gymnasium)
Building 52- Business and Continuing Education

---

College of Arts & Sciences

---

School of Business and Public Administration

---

School of Engineering

---

David A. Clarke School of Law

---

---

---

---
I remember my orientation in January 2005. That was my first step towards matriculating through the University of the District of Columbia. I felt uneasy, yet excited. The process seemed long, but it was over before I knew it - I was now a college student!

Now what? How can I pass my classes? Will I be able to cope? Having been away from any school setting for over 25 years (yes, I am a non-traditional student with an adult son and grandchildren), I wanted to see all the University had to offer and I was not disappointed.

I found that Student Support Services offered free tutoring in math, Spanish, and English, which seemed to be what I needed at that point in time. I filled out the necessary paperwork and was accepted into the tutoring program which helped me to formulate better studying habits. My courses were challenging, but I overcame the fear of failing and took it one day at a time.

I relished my Beginning Spanish course so much that I joined the Spanish Club. This club was lively and I learned to dance the salsa, a fun way to exercise and meet other students. In addition, with the help of the Spanish tutoring laboratory, I entered a recital contest held at the University and won in my category.

This first semester was filled with many opportunities. I became Freshman Class President and Senator for the Undergraduate Student Government Association. As a full-time student, my schedule was filled with classes and extracurricular activities, yet I made a 4.0 GPA. My journey thus far had been challenging but had been equally rewarding.

The following semester, I participated in my first homecoming at the University. During this time I took a chance to represent my class and was voted Miss Freshman 2005-2006. The parade and the festivities that followed solidified my presence at the University. As you now join the University community, please remember that there are many opportunities available to you as well. Savor your learning experience; make it count by giving your all and it can truly be a turning point in your life. Nothing can affect you more than learning, growing, and ultimately realizing your dream. Congratulations on selecting the University of the District of Columbia and welcome. No matter what your reasons for choosing UDC-you are all now new FIREBIRDS!

The University of the District of Columbia

A Pledge for All I Can
Be at UDC

The University of the District of Columbia is an academic community that is committed to education, scholarship and the overall development of the individual. As a member of the University of the District of Columbia community, I take great pride in being part of this institution’s great history and promising future where standards of good practice are honored and promoted in the Code of Student Conduct.

As I enter UDC, I pledge nothing less and much more.

I pledge my head to better thinking.
I pledge my eyes to envision a brighter future.
I pledge my heart to myself, school, community and peers.
I pledge my mouth to speak with intelligence.
I pledge my feet a straight successful path.
I pledge my hands to greater skills.
I pledge brains to attain a higher goal.
This I pledge as I leave and achieve my degree.

I, (state your name), accept the challenges of being a future graduate of the University of the District of Columbia and all the responsibilities thereafter for the benefit of myself, my family, my community and my country.

I am a member of the University of the District of Columbia family!

I am a Firebird

Written by the 2007 graduating class during freshman orientation and the Division of Student Affairs.

---

BOARD RATIFIES ADDITIONAL MASTERS PROGRAMS AT UDC

BY SAM DOKU

The Board of Trustees ratified masters of Science and Computer Science programs at the University of the District of Columbia. Students majoring in Cancer Biology Prevention and Control and Computer Science will now have the opportunity to earn master degrees in those areas at the University. The Board, under the auspices of Dr. James Dyke, unanimously voted at the June 20th meeting authorizing the University to award those degrees.

In addition to the awards of the advanced degrees, the Board also ratified a Master Agreement between faculty and the University. One of the agreements mentioned was new salary proposals and raises for faculty, which has been outstanding for some years. According to the Master Agreement, employees of the University covered by the agreement will benefit from a sixteen percent salary increase spread across four years. Under the terms of the Agreement, employees will get retroactive increases starting from the beginning of fiscal year 2005 through October 1, 2008.

Faculty and employees will get a five-percent pay hike for 2005, four percent for 2006, another four percent in 2007, and three percent in 2008.

In addition to salary increases based on promotions and Union negotiations, there will be increases based on performance which will serve as an incentive for maximum output from faculty.

Furthermore, dependents of faculty and other employees of the David A. Clarke School of Law, who were initially excluded from tuition remission, will now become eligible under terms of the Agreement.

On July 5th, the Union voted by a four-to-one ratio in favor of the Agreement. Dr. William Pollard is expected to submit the Master Agreement to the Mayor, who will submit it to the DC City Council for ratification.

Austen Whitby, a senior majoring in social work complimented the Board for a job well done. He said, “The Board has done a great job because the salary increase will motivate the professors to put more time into their profession. This will make them feel that they are being rewarded for doing a good job.”

According to Whitby, the salary increase will also keep the more highly skilled and qualified professors from seeking employment elsewhere. Barbara Young, another social work major added, “I will hope that these raises and incentives will encourage our professors to be more specific in their expectations of students.”

---

DO YOU HAVE THE STAMINA TO KEEP UP?

DATES TO REMEMBER

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>DAY/MONTH/DAY</th>
<th>EVENT/TIME</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>FALL</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Friday, August 26th</td>
<td>Freeman Orientation - 9:00am - 3:00pm</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>September 14th, 17th</td>
<td>National Student Government Summit</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Monday, September 11th</td>
<td>Commencement</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Sunday, September 22nd</td>
<td>Freshman Week</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Monday, September 19th</td>
<td>Convocation Day</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Thursday, October 1st</td>
<td>Ugly Open House</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>BY SAM DOKU</td>
<td>Yearbook Newspaper</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

BY SAM DOKU
The University of the District of Columbia is proud to have people from around the world to continue their education here with us. We, the UDC Trilogy staff, would love to take a second to say, “WELCOME!” to all the new and returning international students. Not only do we want to say it in English, but also in the following languages representing each continent:

Amharic (Ethiopia):
Enquan Dehna Metachu

French (France):
Bienvenue

Mandarin (Chinese):
Huan yin

Setswana (Botswana):
Goroganga ka pula

Portuguese (Portugal and Brazil):
Bem-vindo

Yugambeh (Australia):
Jingiwalli wahlu

Lenape (Delaware, USA):
Temike

Again....

Welcome to the University of the District of Columbia.

---

Trilogy Team

Interim Editor-In-Chief
Memar Ayalew

Interim Copy-Editor
Rina T. Daniels

Graphic/Layout Design
Cherae David

Writers
Adrian Wilkins, Cherae David, Sam Doku,
Rina T. Daniels, Mah-ki Fox,
Memar Ayalew, Cell, Hortense Brent

Associate Vice President for Student Affairs
Dr. Janice M. Borlandoe

Advisor
Beverly Gurley

Special Acknowledgments:
Carol Stewart, Carolyn Freeman, JoAnn Forbes, Cliff Young and David Gaston

---

BIENVENIDOS!

THE LATINO STUDENTS ASSOCIATION (LSA) WOULD LIKE TO WELCOME ALL FRESHMEN, READMIT, AND TRANSFER STUDENTS TO BE A PART OF THE UNIVERSITY OF THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA FAMILY. WE WOULD ALSO LIKE TO INVITE YOU TO THE CELEBRATION OF HISPANIC HERITAGE MONTH.

(SEPTEMBER 12-OCTOBER 13, 2006)
The student leaders were also accompanied by students to enhance or develop public speaking. According to Professor Royal, public speaking is an opportunity for students to grow. The USGA sponsors a series of retreats, conferences, and workshops.

SONNET OF THE DARK CONTINENT

The mother bleeds… Her youth claw at her remnant A Lion is choked; a union recedes Nile’s accent speaks of defiance. Cries of innocence that is stolen Her redness the militia penetrates; Oh the allowed rule is golden. And dawn scents the corpse that date. Curse the rocks of Black mines Swords reason the cherry stain of the water; Infants gripe the darkness survived Within the unwanted poisons its placenta. Choke on the dust the carriage has shaken, The kidnapped are soon forgotten.

ON THE BRIGHT SIDE...

BRIGHT INKS HARD TO KILL

The Undergraduate Student Government Association plays a crucial role at the University of the District of Columbia. In addition to serving the student body, the USGA also invests its time in encouraging, developing, and supporting student leadership. The USGA understands that this initiative will greatly serve the future of the student leaders, the University, and the community-at-large. In this effort to continue student leadership, the USGA sponsors a series of retreats, conferences, and workshops.

UDC Student Leaders Team-building in Ocean City

The student leaders were also accompanied by several university administrators, faculty, and staff members. Additionally, members of the University Senate, Dr. Carolyn Cousin of the School of Arts and Sciences along with Dr. Esther Ososanya of the School of Engineering and Applied Sciences, offered the student leaders a dynamic presentation on academic integrity. In addition, Ms. Mary Roberts, Mrs. Beverly Gurley, and Dr. Janice Brolandoe delivered a very informative presentation on policies and procedures for undergraduate student clubs and organizations. Mr. Melvin Witten was also on hand to deliver a dynamic presentation on the elements of “Dressing for Success.” Many of the student leaders felt these presentations were informative and enlightening. By the end of the retreat the student leaders were signed, sealed, and ready for the next academic school year, to lead their constituents in the right direction and to strive for the betterment of the University of the District of Columbia.

NURTURING THE MINDS: GROWING THE FUTURE

On May 15, 2006, the USGA held its Annual Student Leadership Retreat that took place at the Carousel Resort in Ocean City, Maryland: an Oceanfront Business District. Facilitated by Mr. Jeffrey Martini of ‘Today is Day One’ Consulting firm, the retreat was another opportunity for networking and teamwork within the USGA. Mr. Martini proved himself to be up to the task, as he assertively engaged approximately forty student leaders in various workshops and critical thinking exercises.

HARD TO KILL

I died once Died twice Spiritually There were no true resurrection Just a yearning for simple perfection A surging eager to claim a recantation That my life never receded, ever My heart was a recalcitrant soldier My body, impregnated by mutation To defy and survive distraction I survived once I did it twice Mentally And there isn’t anything you now can do My wisdom, by itself, is an artful Kung fu

ON THE SPOT

Trilogy would like to recognize two individuals in each issue-- one student and one staff/administrative/faculty member—who are setting higher standards for others. “On the Spot” debuts featuring Trevia Daniels and Professor Andrea L. Royal.

UDC Student Leaders Team-building in Ocean City

The student leaders were also accompanied by several university administrators, faculty, and staff members. Additionally, members of the University Senate, Dr. Carolyn Cousin of the School of Arts and Sciences along with Dr. Esther Ososanya of the School of Engineering and Applied Sciences, offered the student leaders a dynamic presentation on academic integrity. In addition, Ms. Mary Roberts, Mrs. Beverly Gurley, and Dr. Janice Brolandoe delivered a very informative presentation on policies and procedures for undergraduate student clubs and organizations. Mr. Melvin Witten was also on hand to deliver a dynamic presentation on the elements of “Dressing for Success.” Many of the student leaders felt these presentations were informative and enlightening. By the end of the retreat the student leaders were signed, sealed, and ready for the next academic school year, to lead their constituents in the right direction and to strive for the betterment of the University of the District of Columbia.

BRIGHT INKS HARD TO KILL

I died once Died twice Spiritually There were no true resurrection Just a yearning for simple perfection A surging eager to claim a recantation That my life never receded, ever My heart was a recalcitrant soldier My body, impregnated by mutation To defy and survive distraction I survived once I did it twice Mentally And there isn’t anything you now can do My wisdom, by itself, is an artful Kung fu

SONNET OF THE DARK CONTINENT

The mother bleeds… Her youth claw at her remnant A Lion is choked; a union recedes Nile’s accent speaks of defiance. Cries of innocence that is stolen Her redness the militia penetrates; Oh the allowed rule is golden. And dawn scents the corpse that date. Curse the rocks of Black mines Swords reason the cherry stain of the water; Infants gripe the darkness survived Within the unwanted poisons its placenta. Choke on the dust the carriage has shaken, The kidnapped are soon forgotten.

BRIGHT INKS HARD TO KILL

I died once Died twice Spiritually There were no true resurrection Just a yearning for simple perfection A surging eager to claim a recantation That my life never receded, ever My heart was a recalcitrant soldier My body, impregnated by mutation To defy and survive distraction I survived once I did it twice Mentally And there isn’t anything you now can do My wisdom, by itself, is an artful Kung fu

SONNET OF THE DARK CONTINENT

The mother bleeds… Her youth claw at her remnant A Lion is choked; a union recedes Nile’s accent speaks of defiance. Cries of innocence that is stolen Her redness the militia penetrates; Oh the allowed rule is golden. And dawn scents the corpse that date. Curse the rocks of Black mines Swords reason the cherry stain of the water; Infants gripe the darkness survived Within the unwanted poisons its placenta. Choke on the dust the carriage has shaken, The kidnapped are soon forgotten.

BRIGHT INKS HARD TO KILL

I died once Died twice Spiritually There were no true resurrection Just a yearning for simple perfection A surging eager to claim a recantation That my life never receded, ever My heart was a recalcitrant soldier My body, impregnated by mutation To defy and survive distraction I survived once I did it twice Mentally And there isn’t anything you now can do My wisdom, by itself, is an artful Kung fu

SONNET OF THE DARK CONTINENT

The mother bleeds… Her youth claw at her remnant A Lion is choked; a union recedes Nile’s accent speaks of defiance. Cries of innocence that is stolen Her redness the militia penetrates; Oh the allowed rule is golden. And dawn scents the corpse that date. Curse the rocks of Black mines Swords reason the cherry stain of the water; Infants gripe the darkness survived Within the unwanted poisons its placenta. Choke on the dust the carriage has shaken, The kidnapped are soon forgotten.

BRIGHT INKS HARD TO KILL

I died once Died twice Spiritually There were no true resurrection Just a yearning for simple perfection A surging eager to claim a recantation That my life never receded, ever My heart was a recalcitrant soldier My body, impregnated by mutation To defy and survive distraction I survived once I did it twice Mentally And there isn’t anything you now can do My wisdom, by itself, is an artful Kung fu

SONNET OF THE DARK CONTINENT

The mother bleeds… Her youth claw at her remnant A Lion is choked; a union recedes Nile’s accent speaks of defiance. Cries of innocence that is stolen Her redness the militia penetrates; Oh the allowed rule is golden. And dawn scents the corpse that date. Curse the rocks of Black mines Swords reason the cherry stain of the water; Infants gripe the darkness survived Within the unwanted poisons its placenta. Choke on the dust the carriage has shaken, The kidnapped are soon forgotten.

BRIGHT INKS HARD TO KILL

I died once Died twice Spiritually There were no true resurrection Just a yearning for simple perfection A surging eager to claim a recantation That my life never receded, ever My heart was a recalcitrant soldier My body, impregnated by mutation To defy and survive distraction I survived once I did it twice Mentally And there isn’t anything you now can do My wisdom, by itself, is an artful Kung fu

SONNET OF THE DARK CONTINENT

The mother bleeds… Her youth claw at her remnant A Lion is choked; a union recedes Nile’s accent speaks of defiance. Cries of innocence that is stolen Her redness the militia penetrates; Oh the allowed rule is golden. And dawn scents the corpse that date. Curse the rocks of Black mines Swords reason the cherry stain of the water; Infants gripe the darkness survived Within the unwanted poisons its placenta. Choke on the dust the carriage has shaken, The kidnapped are soon forgotten.

BRIGHT INKS HARD TO KILL

I died once Died twice Spiritually There were no true resurrection Just a yearning for simple perfection A surging eager to claim a recantation That my life never receded, ever My heart was a recalcitrant soldier My body, impregnated by mutation To defy and survive distraction I survived once I did it twice Mentally And there isn’t anything you now can do My wisdom, by itself, is an artful Kung fu

SONNET OF THE DARK CONTINENT

The mother bleeds… Her youth claw at her remnant A Lion is choked; a union recedes Nile’s accent speaks of defiance. Cries of innocence that is stolen Her redness the militia penetrates; Oh the allowed rule is golden. And dawn scents the corpse that date. Curse the rocks of Black mines Swords reason the cherry stain of the water; Infants gripe the darkness survived Within the unwanted poisons its placenta. Choke on the dust the carriage has shaken, The kidnapped are soon forgotten.
The New Face of the UDC Athletics Department

BY ADRIAN WILKINS

Dr. William L. Pollard, President of the University of the District of Columbia, announced the appointment of Dr. Harold M. Merritt as the Director of Intercollegiate Athletics this past January. Since then Dr. Merritt has been busy hiring new coaches and reinstating programs here at UDC.

On June 1, 2006, Marc J. Harrison assumed a position as the new Head Coach for the UDC Men’s and Women’s Cross Country Teams as well as the Women’s Indoor/Outdoor Track and Field Team. Coach Harrison comes to UDC from Bowie State where he has been named the Central Intercollegiate Athletic Conference (CIAA) Coach of the Year three times. He was the only track and field coach in Bowie State University’s history to win the Women’s Track and Field title.

Also joining Coach Harrison on the staff of the Women’s Indoor/Outdoor Track and Field Team is Patrice Irby. Coach Irby is a UDC Alumna with illustrious achievements highlighting her career. She is a former All-American in Track and Field in the 55 Meter Hurdles and had a spot in the Olympic trials on the 300 Meter Hurdles.

The University of the District of Columbia has provided its students with an opportunity to meet these energetic, unique and knowledgeable individuals in person by becoming a part of these teams. If anyone wishes to gain information on how to join the Cross Country Teams and the Women’s Indoor/Outdoor Track and Field Team, please contact Coach Harrison via email at mjharrison@udc.edu or call at 202-274-6353.

The UDC Cross Country schedule is as follows:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Date</th>
<th>Location</th>
<th>Event</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>9/9/2006</td>
<td>at Virginia State University (Petersburg, VA)</td>
<td>(Series #1) All Day</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>9/14/2006</td>
<td>at Virginia State University (Petersburg, VA)</td>
<td>(Classic) All Day</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>9/16/2006</td>
<td>at Virginia Union University (Richmond, VA)</td>
<td>(Invitational) All Day</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>9/22/2006</td>
<td>at Bowie State University (Bowie, MD)</td>
<td>(Invitational) All Day</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>9/27/2006</td>
<td>at Virginia State University (Petersburg, VA)</td>
<td>(Legends Classic) All Day</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>10/13/2006</td>
<td>at Virginia State University (Petersburg, VA)</td>
<td>(Last Chance) All Day</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>11/4/2006</td>
<td>vs. NCAA Southeast Regional Championship (Wingate, NC)</td>
<td>All Day</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>11/18/2006</td>
<td>vs. NCAA Championships (Pensacola, FL)</td>
<td>All Day</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

The University of the District of Columbia is a National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) Division II school. This means that there has to be 10 varsity sports on UDC’s Campus. Listed are all the sports that UDC competes in as well as contact information for each coach and/or assistant coach.
University of the District of Columbia

Homecoming Week

SUNDAY 22nd, OCTOBER
TO
SATURDAY 28TH, OCTOBER

Please take the time to fill out this survey and drop it in the following locations.
Place in drop box at Building 38 Room A-10 or Room A-22

Contact Office of Student Life
Room A-20, Bldg. 38
Mrs. Beverly Gurley, Advisor

In the preparing the loaf of a very special writing, printing and publishing society, now is the time to become involved and expose your talent and potential

WP2 SOCIETY
SIGN UP NOW TO BECOME A MEMBER